INTRODUCTION

Indagatio Didactica publishes theoretical and empirical research in education, developed mainly by academics, targeting researchers, policymakers, teachers and trainers, used and transformed to promote innovative professional practices in diversified educational contexts, and aiming to allow communication between the authors and the educational community.

OJS

OJS is used to fully manage the editorial workflow of the two regular issues – special issues are managed outside of the platform by the invited or proposing editors – and to communicate calls for papers, new issues' publication, and special events.

CIDTFF is financially supported by National Funds through FCT – Fundação para a Ciência e a Tecnologia, I.P., under the projects UIDB/00194/2020 and UIDP/00194/2020.
